

LPE Virtual Speaker Series: Technology, Policy & Law during COVID-19

Join us via Zoom as we cover global pandemic issues with experts from the College of Engineering, Penn State Law in University Park, and the School of International Affairs. Send questions in advance for Q&A to Patrick Healey: pmh5374@psu.edu.

May 14 | 12:00-12:30 p.m.

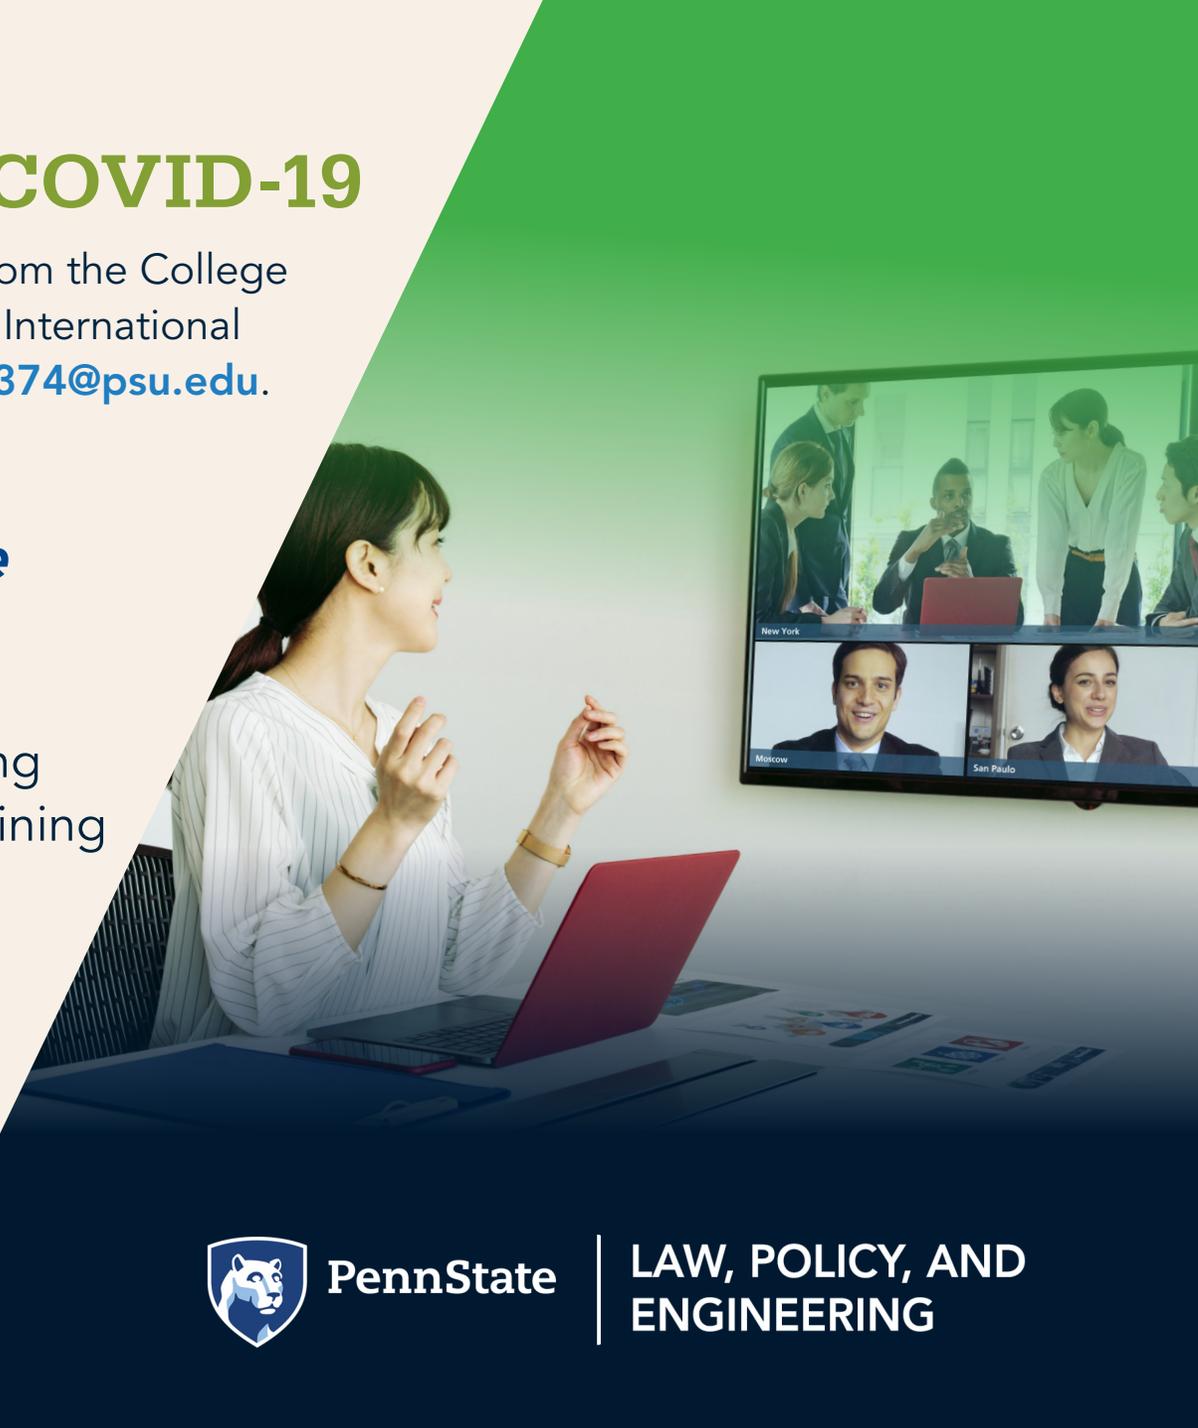

SARS-CoV-2 and the Teletravel Imperative

psu.zoom.us/j/93086230698 Password: 376281

Teletravel (telecommuting, telemedicine) has been meeting the needs of society since the mid-1980s. Forced quarantining brought on by the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic, has resulted in extensive use of teletravel to meet the access needs of society. While the transition has been relatively seamless for some entities, others are struggling to “catch up.”

SPEAKER:

Martin Pietrucha, Ph.D., P.E., F.ASCE., F.ITE, Professor of Civil Engineering, Department of Civil & Environmental Engineering; Faculty Research Associate, Thomas D. Larson Pennsylvania Transportation Institute; Faculty Affiliate, The Rock Ethics Institute, Penn State

PennState

LAW, POLICY, AND ENGINEERING